

German III

Continued effective communication in German is at the heart of this course, which includes a focus on face-to-face and written communication as well as German literature written for teenagers. Students will gain further knowledge and a more comprehensive understanding of the cultures of the German-speaking world. The course has an interdisciplinary focus on history, literature, art, music and geography. Students will access knowledge that is unavailable to the non-German speakers and participate in German communities around the world through the use of various technologies.

Prerequisite: German II

Course ID# = GERMAN3-GN-Y

(This course meets the required Career Cluster, Workplace Readiness, or Language other than English Graduation Credit Requirement)